MOHAMMAD KAIF

Birmingham, United Kingdom
07775 653962 | kaifmd2078@gmail.com
Portfolio | LinkedIn | GitHub

Professional Profile

BSc (Hons) Computer Science student at the University of Wolverhampton seeking a Computer Science Sandwich Placement. Interested in software development, web technologies, database systems, and interactive applications. Experience developing academic and personal projects using Python, Java, PHP, MySQL, JavaScript, and Unity. Demonstrates problem-solving, analytical thinking, teamwork, and communication skills, with a commitment to continuous learning and professional development.

Education

University of Wolverhampton Wolverhampton, United Kingdom
BSc (Hons) Computer Science

Relevant Modules

- Software Development
- Web Development
- Database Systems
- Object-Oriented Programming
- Interactive 3D Applications

Technical Skills

Programming Languages: Python, Java, PHP, JavaScript
Web Technologies: HTML5, CSS3
Database Technologies: MySQL
Tools and Platforms: Git, GitHub, Unity, Visual Studio Code, XAMPP

Projects

Road Safety Serious Game

- Developed an educational game in Unity featuring an interactive 3D simulation to teach road-crossing safety.
- Applied game design principles, research, and user interaction to create an engaging educational experience.

WLV Campus Map

- Developed an interactive navigation application to help users locate university buildings and facilities efficiently.

Portfolio Website

- Designed and developed a responsive portfolio website to showcase software projects, technical skills, and development experience.

Key Skills

Problem Solving, Analytical Thinking, Communication, Teamwork, Time Management, Technical Documentation

Additional Information

- Maintaining a GitHub portfolio of academic and personal software development projects.
- Actively developing skills through practical software and web development projects.
- Seeking a Computer Science Sandwich Placement opportunity in the United Kingdom.